Elders' Corner:

We had a wonderful graduation ceremony this past Sunday for our high school and college graduates. I want to extend a special thank you to Robbie Heavin and her helpers for all their efforts to plan, organize and decorate for the ceremony, and I thank Robbie Kirkland, David Fielder, Dylon Wake, and Ray Sullins for their part of the ceremony by offering Godly words of advice, prayers, and also sharing with us about the graduates and their aspirations going forward. I also thank Julie Medley, Angi Moody, and Kay Edwards for planning and decorating the fellowship hall for the reception afterwards. Finally, I know several donated food and other items for the ceremony and reception, thank you for sharing.

We are truly pleased with the accomplishments of these students and look forward to encouraging them along in their next steps of life. I really felt the song Robbie picked out was so fitting for our occasion, "How Shall the Young Secure Their Hearts". I hope we can all be examples to and continue showing our young people how to faithfully serve our Lord through each step in our lives. As Solomon said, there is a time for everything (Eccles 3), and now is their time to start a new chapter of their lives. As was mentioned in the ceremony, let us all encourage these young people to remember their creator all the days of their youth (Eccles 12:1). Thank you to the parents who have trained their children in the way they should go (Prov 22:6), who have trained their children to remember their creator in the days of their youth.

A simple reminder- remember not only our graduates, but also our sick and struggling at this time. Please continue to pray for Carolyn and Ken Lee, Herman Cummings, Marcella Wake, and John and Judi Martin, and Gary Dalton.

Look forward to seeing everyone this Friday through Sunday for our lectureship as we study about Paul's questions to the Romans.

In Christian Love,

John and David
